A photograph of Peter Guschelbauer, a man with long blonde hair and a beard, wearing large black headphones and playing a bass guitar. He is wearing a dark t-shirt with a small logo that says "STILL MUSIC". The background is a solid red color. A dark red text box is overlaid in the upper right, and a black text box is overlaid in the lower left.

September 18th 2010 was the 40th anniversary of Jimi's passing away, and so Still Experienced started to record a new CD, an album with horns, exactly as the great Gil Evans had planned.

Peter Guschelbauer
bass, organ, backing vocals

Chris Haller
guitars, leadvocals

Jimi Hendrix has died 2 days before the first rehearsal and so the project couldn't be completed with Jimi's guitar. In honour to our great hero, Still Experienced wants to try to follow the idea of Gil Evans ...

Andreas Szelegowitz
drums (1, 2, 3, 6, 7, 8, 9, 12)

Reynhard Boegl
harmonica

Gabriella Hänninen
backing vocal

Barbara Schachinger-Hiesinger
backing vocal

Bernhard Welz
drums (4, 5, 10, 11)

Charly Schmid
tenor sax

Fabian Rucker
baritone sax

Clemens Salesny
alto sax

Daniel Nösig
trumpet

Hermann Mayr
trombone

Gerald Silber
trumpet

As Jimi Hendrix released his purple haze in 1967, the world was defined new for Chris Haller and Peter Guschelbauer. Together they went to school in Linz / Austria and they knew this music corresponds to their souls. They took the guitars and started to play the music of Jimi Hendrix, some blues tunes á la John Mayall and some original compositions. The first school band with the name of Insel (island) was founded. After the highschool they lost themselves because of different studies for 25 years, but in the year 1997 they met again and thought it would be the right time to restart the music of Jimi Hendrix. Still Experienced should be the name of the new band. They found great musicians and soon they played countless gigs in clubs and concert halls in Austria and parts of Germany. They recorded 5 albums as a trio and with guest musicians from all over Austria and with the Canadian singer Jessica Vigneault.

Still Experienced wants to thank all the great musicians for their contribution and above all Christoph Cech for the wonderful arrangements he wrote.

Chris Haller - Peter Guschelbauer

Christoph Cech
arrangements